Absolute Yachts soon to launch Absolute 60 FLY and new range

Boats

News of the coming season for Absolute Yachts includes the launch of two new models and the inauguration of the new Coupé range. The first to enter the scene will be the Absolute 60 Fly, which will debut in Cannes.

Absolute 60 Fly, nicknamed the “Absolute Prism” by the yard, aims to innovate through the presence of an owner’s quarters forward and an aft cockpit free of structural elements. The owner’s cabin features a walk-in wardrobe, a sea-view vanity, and side windows.

The exterior lines are made up of many transparent elements, thanks to the glazed rear railings. The stern cockpit does not have any fixed elements and can be furnished according to the owner’s needs. Thanks to two side staircases, it will be possible to access a platform close to the water; there is also room for a fixed corridor directly accessible to the crew cabin, through a pantograph opening camouflaged in the transom.

On the upper deck, the Fly area is proposed as a second open-air salon, equipped with a kitchen, dining area, relaxation area, and steering console. The bow area also features a sunbathing area and a sofa with a table.

The helm stations on the main deck and flybridge both have double seats. A third mooring station can also be located at the stern, which can be integrated into a dedicated cabinet in the cockpit, with a joystick, bow thruster control, and engine start panel.

Absolute confirms that the furnishings on board Absolute 60 FLY will be modular according to actual use, choosing from the various configurations available. There will also be a focus on the environment, thanks to the possibility of integrating solar panels into the hard-top.

The public presentation is planned during the Cannes boat show in September 2021, where the first model in the new range, the Absolute 48 Coupé, will also be presented.
